

Key Moments in World History

The Rise of the Roman Empire

The Roman Empire, founded in 27 BC, was one of the most powerful and influential in history. Its control extended across Europe, the Middle East, and North Africa, greatly impacting our modern world.

The Industrial Revolution

The Industrial Revolution started in Britain in the late 18th century, leading to major shifts in agriculture, manufacturing, mining, and transport. It dramatically altered every aspect of daily life and continues to influence our society and economy.

The World Wars

The two World Wars, WWI (1914-1918) and WWII (1939-1945), were significant events in the 20th century that shaped the geopolitical and cultural landscape of the world. These wars caused unprecedented destruction and loss, leading to the creation of international bodies like the United Nations.
